

John Parsons Testimonial

From the beginning of our association with “Simulate to Educate”, John has provided a highly valued and professional service. John has a unique knowledge base which provided for an interactive and specialised workshop for teachers, parents and community on “Protecting a Child’s Online Identity”.

Within the presentation delivery John connected with the audience and provided statistics, facts and everyday stories about children and families in our community who had been affected by unsafe internet usage. John provided skills and strategies empowering attendees to be more aware of how to be “internet safe” within the home, work environment and social life for adults and children.

John is enthusiastic, entertaining, and passionate with an approachable and respectful manner. We highly recommend him for future internet safety and risk assessment education for all sectors of the community.

Thank You John
